

THE CHLORINOLYSIS OF SULFUR CONTAINING β -LACTAMS

R. G. Micetich¹, R. B. Morin², C. C. Shaw³, and R. Singh¹.

1. Faculty of Pharmacy, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.
2. Bristol-Meyers Pharm. Research Division, Syracuse, New York, U.S.A.
3. Ayerst Laboratories, Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

The present work describes the chlorinolysis of the dithiazeneazetidinones, 1; the unSym-azetidinone disulfides, 2; and the 28-chloromethylpenams, 3; to give high yields of the chlorinated products, 4. Some preliminary studies of these compounds producing the episulfides, 5, will also be described.